

16 Dec. 2005

Chadsworth's 1.800.COLUMNS Polyurethane Balustrade Series Is Selected for Architectural Products Magazine's Market of Choice

For Immediate Release

Contact: Barbara P. Hedding 910.763.7600 or barbara.hedding@columns.com

Chadsworth's 1.800.COLUMNS new Polyurethane Balustrade Series was selected by Architectural Products Magazine's to be included in its Market of Choice, which highlights the best new products.

"We chose Chadsworth's Polyurethane Balustrades for Markets of Choice because they fit the public building category," says Editor Roy Diez, "they are durable, steel reinforced, and low maintenance; and you can choose from many traditional designs."

The new Polyurethane Balustrade is lighter in weight yet has the same resistance to weather, rot, and insects as the established PolyStone™ Balustrade line from Chadsworth.

The steel reinforced line features a range of classic styles that help highlight the types of traditional designs used by museums and cultural centers. The lighter weight is especially helpful in retrofit situations and rooftop applications. They come with a lifetime warranty.

Easy to install, they come with step-by-step instructions and a lifetime warranty. Polyurethane Balustrades enhance the value of any structure, adding beauty, strength and durability.